Summary of @WHO EC's Temporary Recommendations
1. WHO does not recommend limiting trade and movement of people. Countries must only implement evidence-based measures. WHO can assist with guidance. WHO opposes any travel or trade restrictions that would effectively punish China.

WHO defines travel restrictions to include visa bans and quarantining travelers who are in good condition. This would include Australia.

@WHO says they will ask countries who do to show cause for non-evidence based measures in accordance in with the IHR.

Declaring a PHEIC was the right decision. It was good to see the:
- focus of a PHEIC declaration's purpose on preparing states w weak health systems. Very powerful shift.
- reiteration WHO's power to ask states to "show cause" for non-evidence based travel restrictions.
